Veterans Pour Into New York For Convention

Thousand Of American Legionnaires Arriving For National Sessions

SEE CONTEST FOR NEW COMMANDER

By JAMES L. KILGALLAN
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Thousands of American Legionnaires continued today to pour into New York City for what promised to be the biggest convention in the city's history.

The 29th annual convention of the Legion opens officially tomorrow, but Legionnaires, in their familiar cocked overseas hats, were an increasingly numerous sight on New York streets. The convention continues through Sunday.

Legionnaires were warned bluntly by the congressional author of a bill for universal military training that despite strong Legion support of the bill it will be difficult to get congressional approval.

May Urge Special Session

National Commander Paul H. Griffith and several of the men mentioned as his possible successors have strongly urged a special session of congress to pass a UMT bill to insure national defense.

Rep. Harry L. Towse (R-N. J.) said there is strong opposition to such a bill as he proposed and told the Legion it should start a "pressure program" for passage of the measure.

Although the convention has not opened officially, such Legion committees as those on national defense and national security met to hear expert testimony.

Vice Adm. Robert B. Carney, deputy chief of naval operations for logistics, asked the defense committee to support the navy's requests for funds as an aid to defense.

Mood Is Rather Sober

Although so far the mood of convention delegates apparently is considerably more sober than is traditional at Legion conventions, the famed 40- and 8 "locomotives" changed their way about town.

Delegates to the convention and their families, as well as representatives of the Legion auxiliary, whose new president is to be Mrs. Lee Hut-

Pa Newc Observes

New street signs being erected by the city on East Washington street, present quite an attractive appearance. The signs are quite legible and easily read by motorists as they pass the various intersections.

Grass in numerous sections of the city is brightening up following the sporadic rains of the past few days. Many lawns, which were not mowed during the dry spell are being trimmed by property owners.

Bicycle population of the city seemingly is on the increase. Many of the cyclists, who have had their vehicles licensed by the city, still take many chances weaving in and out of traffic. The licenses can be used as means of checking up on the offenders.

Varied expressions are noted on the faces of boys and girls in downtown stores as they gather about the stationary counters. Some of the kids seem to be quite glad that local schools are to open soon while others are bemoaning the fact, wishing that the fateful day was more distant.

On a hot day during the weekend, the boss in one of the local laundries told his assistant to advise Pa Newc, that as he was getting up steam in the boiler, and after reaching a certain point, he shut off the stoker, but still the indicator showed the steam was going up! Some weather.

An interested group of spectators clustered about one of the new model cars in the downtown section Tuesday. The attraction that was catching the eyes of the crowd, was the push button type window opener.

Extensive Study To Be Made In Polio Spraying

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Public health officials today plan an extensive study to determine whether the spread of infantile paralysis can be checked through extermination of flies in polio-ridden areas.

Officials said that results of the DDT spraying today of Wilmington, Del., by planes in an effort to control Delaware's polio epidemic will be carefully recorded and evaluated.

Dr. C. L. Williams, assistant surgeon general of the U. S. public health service, said that the Wilmington test provides the service with the first good opportunity to determine the value of mass spraying.

Eisenhower's Brother May Get Cabinet Post

Farben Officials Are Put On Trial

Twenty-Two Industrial Heads In Germany Are Being Tried For War Crimes

NUERNBERG, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Twenty-two top-flight I. G. Farben officials went on trial before an American war crimes tribunal today and heard themselves assailed as "damaged souls" and "architects of catastrophe."

The prosecution characterized them as the "magicians who made the fantasies of Hitler's 'Mein Kampf' come true."

Twenty-four I. G. Farben officials were indicted originally but two were reported ill and only 22 were in court today.

The heads of the German chemical cartel were charged with major responsibility for World War Two, mass plunder and murder.

Report Casualties Of Dutch In Indonesia

BATAVIA, Aug. 27.—(INS)—A Netherlands army communique announced today that total Dutch casualties in Indonesia since the beginning of "police action" are 159 killed, 412 wounded and 18 missing.

The communique said a large portion of the casualties occurred since the United Nations security council "cease fire" order went into effect.

The high command said Dutch forces repelled a Republican "formation" in fighting five miles northwest of Tangerang, near Batavia.

The communique said heavy losses were inflicted on the Indonesians.

Veteran Is Drowned In Slippery Rock

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Coroner Charles Dengler said today the body of Joseph Scigliano, 27-year-old Butler, Pa., war veteran, was recovered 15 minutes after his canoe overturned in Slippery Rock creek yesterday.

A companion of the victim, Ann McClenahan, 24, a nurse at the Butler Veterans Administration hospital, was saved by a motorboat operator.

AGED MAN COMMITS SUICIDE

Slear, 80, of Mifflinburg, who fatally wounded himself with a .32 caliber revolver when he apparently became despondent over his failing health. Relatives said Slear had been in ill health for five years and had recently suffered a stroke.

Speculation On Russia's Intent To Stay In U. N.

Some Developments Seem To Indicate Soviet May Withdraw From United Nations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Latest international developments created speculation in Washington diplomatic circles today whether Russia will remain in the United Nations assembly meeting in New York next month.

Diplomatic observers take the view that there are many evidences that Moscow is determined no longer to rely on the world international organization or to abide by the decisions of the security council.

Soviet Might Withdraw

Many believe that, if the general assembly should go on record as opposing further use of the veto—consistently employed by Moscow to halt effective United Nations action—the Soviet Union might withdraw.

This possibility has been in the mind of top United States policymakers since the early days of the peace.

When the first meeting of the "big five" foreign ministers council collapsed in London in the fall of 1945, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes recognized the importance of Russia's adherence to the United Nations.

Byrnes proposed the Moscow meeting of the foreign ministers of the United States, Britain and Russia in the hope of enticing the Soviet Union into the first meeting of the general assembly in London.

Some Indications

The former secretary took the position that the United Nations position that the United Nations security council was as impotent without Russia as the League of Nations was without the United States.

Of late there have been some indications that Moscow is preparing

With the permission of the cash customers, which is you and you, we would like to take a little of our valuable space to talk about us for a little time today. This is not a story of the annual picnic of the Ancient Order of Butcher Hole Workers nor yet a saga of the annual Longshoremen's Clambake. It's a short account of the annual picnic of The News family, held in Cascade Park Tuesday night, August 26.

The picnic was the annual affair tendered to the employees of the company by the management. Heading the affair were President and Mrs. J. F. Rentz.

Limitation Of Big Five Veto To Be Taken Up

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(INS)—The United Nations security council today takes up the controversial question of possible limitation of the Big Five veto.

The 11-nation body is obligated to prepare a report answering a resolution of the general assembly appointing last year and calling for "early adoption of practices and procedures consistent with the charter" in limiting the indiscriminate use of the veto.

But the council session is faced with the discouraging fact that twenty vetoes have been cast since the assembly resolution, eighteen of them by Soviet Russia and two by France.

Also the small powers are on the verge of a revolt against the misuse

MINEOLA, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(INS)—One man was killed and three others injured today when a west-bound Long Island railroad passenger train and a heavy trailer-truck collided at the Willis avenue crossing in the Willis avenue crossing.

First reports indicated none of the passengers was injured.

The trailer-truck loaded with insulation supplies, caught fire immediately after the collision. The trailer was said to have been carried almost two blocks before the train came to a stop.

The driver of the truck was believed to have been killed instantly, and his companion injured. Their identities were not available immediately.

At 6:15 the family sat down to a picnic dinner in the grove. This was not a lap lunch or a basket snack but a real dinner, baked ham, potato salad, baked beans, pickles, ice cream, and no flies. Richard E. Rentz, assistant treasurer, opened the dinner with an announcement and Mrs. J. F. Rentz asked the blessing. The dinner was a Merle Hoover special, which will give you a rough idea.

Greek Cabinet Not Yet Formed

Move To Prevent All-Rightist Cabinet Forming Gains Momentum

CROWN COUNCIL MOVE SUGGESTED

ATHENS, Aug. 27.—(INS)—An American-supported move to keep Premier-Designate Constantine Tsaldaris from forming an all-rightist Greek cabinet gained momentum today.

After U. S. Ambassador Lincoln MacVeagh indicated that the United States would prefer to see a neutral, non-political premier at the head of a board coalition, two center party Greeks called on King Paul.

Sophocles Venizelos, and Panayotis Kanellopoulos, two of the three whose resignation toppled the government last Saturday, suggested to the king that he convoke a crown council to take the initiative from Tsaldaris. The latter is head of the dominant Royalist Populist party.

Opposes Convocation

The council comprises leaders of all parties in parliament, and Tsaldaris is reported opposed to such a convocation and determined to present an all-Populist slate to the king.

Tsaldaris conferred with MacVeagh at the latter's residence again this morning. The ambassador then visited the palace for the first time in the crisis, presumably to make American views unmistakably known to the king.

The outcome of the crisis now hinges on whether the king is willing or able to persuade Tsaldaris to withdraw in favor of a non-political figure.

Some observers, including American officials, believe Tsaldaris is being pressed by extreme right-wing Populists who are convinced that the United States is so deeply committed in Greece that it must accept a straight all-Populist regime.

Abandoned Mines May Be Useful In Atomic Energy Plan

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Abandoned mines in Pennsylvania's lower anthracite fields may yet be useful in the nation's atomic energy program.

Mine experts at Pottsville said unofficially that abandoned work-shafts in upper Dauphin and western Schuylkill counties could be used at low cost for atomic research and storage.

They pointed out that "hundreds of miles" of tunnels were available while it would be necessary to excavate subterranean chambers from the earth in the vicinity of Albuquerque, N. M. The war department has refused to comment on the New Mexico project because of the limitations of the atomic energy act of 1946.

Even though some of the workings were filled with water, authorities claimed, it could be drained off into nearby rivers by drainage tunnels.

Two Gunmen Held Under $50,000 Bail

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Two gunmen who were captured Monday near Westville, Ind., after kidnapping Fred W. Wegner, 17, in his father's car today were charged with robbery and kidnapping.

They will be arraigned in South Bend tomorrow. Bond was set at $50,000 each.

Security Pact For Americas Being Framed

Pole To Pole Defense Region In Western Hemisphere Regarded As Certain

PROPOSAL BEFORE BRAZIL CONFERENCE (BULLETIN)

PETROPOLIS, Brazil, Aug. 27.—(INS)—An unprecedented security pact which converts the western hemisphere from pole to pole into a defense region guarded by the guns of the American republics was being hammered today into final form.

A special subcommittee of the inter-American defense conference went to work on details of the pact for submission to a plenary session.

Acceptance Seems Certain

Acceptance of the proposal, already approved unanimously by the full committee on aggression and enforcement, was regarded as certain.

The pact would convert North and South America and several hundred miles of territorial waters into a hemispheric hedgehog for purposes of defense against attack.

It also would include Greenland and affiliates of the American nations such as Hawaii and Gallapagos Islands.

Argentina moved for the inclusion of the Falkland Islands whose sovereignty is disputed by the Buenos Aires government and Great Britain.

Observers predicted that the Argentine motion will be adopted. They added that British islands in the Caribbean, the Sandwich and New Georgia Islands also may be brought under the protection of American guns.

May Include Canada

The door was left open for the inclusion of Canada which, as a member of British commonwealth of nations, is not represented at the conference.

United States delegates reportedly were pressing to have the treaty signed by Saturday.

The agreement provides that "armed attack by any state against

Mrs. Roosevelt Makes Denial

Magazine Article Makes Reply To Some Statements Of James A. Farley

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt said today James A. Farley displayed a "remarkable memory" in his recent "Why I Broke With Roosevelt" articles in which he quoted the former first lady.

Mrs. Roosevelt sharply denied in the September Ladies Home Journal that she told Farley: "Franklin finds it hard to relax with people who aren't his social equals." She added:

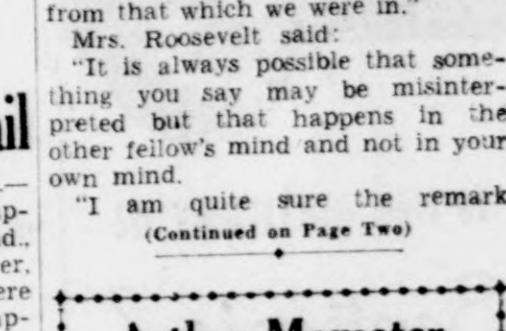

"Deeply Grieved"

"I am deeply grieved to find that Mr. Farley was not the person I thought him. It never occurred to me that Mr. and Mrs. Farley felt themselves in any different group from that which we were in."

"It is always possible that something you say may be misinterpreted but that happens in the other fellow's mind and not in your own mind."

So he sits on his porch and he muses his fate, a sorrowful state you can see, for he couldn't cut down on his six over five—the weather is cool, eighty-three.

Declares U. S. Needs 1,750,000 Fighting Men For Its Safety

LA. Gen. Lawton Collins Acting Deputy Chief of Staff Gives Views On U. S. Needs

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Lt. Gen. Lawton Collins, acting deputy chief of staff of the war department, said today that the U. S. needs 1,750,000 ready-to-fight personnel, prepared by universal military training, for its safety in event of future war.

Gen. Collins commanded the seventh corps in Normandy at the breakthrough west of St. Lo. He told the American Legion national defense commission that universal training is the only way this nation can be sure of having men prepared to fight instantly on mobilization day.

No Time To Prepare

He said that a future aggressor will not give the United States time to prepare to fight. It must be ready to fight, he added.

Gen. Collins made his statement as committee chairman sharpened up important resolutions for submission to the Legion's 29th national convention which opens in Madison Square Garden tomorrow.

He added that he believes that a great number of young men tagged for universal training would oppose the national guard as their option to the second six-month training period.

The military official said that at present the army consists of 400,000 in the air force and 600,000 in ground troops, with plans for a national guard strength of 700,000.

He said the cost of U. S. military will be high—and a half billion dollars—but will be "worthwhile insurance."

Gen. Collins warned: "We cannot stand another major war that will extend our debt like the last one did and still retain our system of free enterprise. We are concerned more with preventing than starting war. Our only hope of preventing war is a strong, sound America."

Mrs. Nellie Taylor Ross was the first woman governor of a state. She was elected in Wyoming to fill the unexpired term of her husband, and took office January 5, 1925.

Two out of every three automobile accidents in the United States last year involved mistakes by drivers. Exceeding the speed limit took the heaviest toll of 9,460 killed and 230,760 injured.

One of the long needed projects in New Castle is in the process of becoming a reality. Work of erecting permanent street signs on the main highways through the city will be completed in a few days.

New Castle had evidence during the night that the three week's torrid wave that held the city in its grip had been broken. Much cooler weather prevailed during the night.

Added to the parade of new buses, new autos and trucks, being transported overland through this city to the east, was a group of brand new taxicabs Tuesday evening. Some of the trucks transporting new autos make use of the 422 by-pass via Taylor street, while others turn into Washington street and go through the downtown section, Pa Newc notes.

The red mass of flowers is drawing much comment from passing motorists and residents of the area.

Bascom F. Jones, of Nashville, Tenn., and Martin V. Coffey, of Middletown, O., also are prominently mentioned.

Veteran Legion observers noted a sharp difference in the strong field of possible successors to Griffith, unlike last year's San Francisco meeting when the post of Commander went to the Uniontown, Pa. man uncontested.

Other candidates are Robert W. Collier of Des Moines, Ia.; Ben Hilliard of Denver; Joseph J. Molloy of Washington, D. C.; and Richard S. Cadwallader of Baton Rouge, La. The latter is the only World War II vet among them.

which Mr. Farley quotes in his so-called autobiography could never have been made by me, since I never have had such thoughts."

She added: "I have always liked people, as did my husband, for what they were as individuals, and we enjoyed ourselves and relaxed with people of many and varied backgrounds."

"Genuinely Sorry"

"It is true, however, that if you have similar interests and beliefs it may be easier to relax. Unwittingly in some way I, who was responsible for purely social matters in the White House, seem to have hurt both Mr. and Mrs. Farley."

"But, that I am genuinely sorry, but I feel I never treated them any differently from any other member of the cabinet."

Mrs. Roosevelt stressed her emphasis on purely social questions during those years when the really important things were the new policies on social questions of the day shows that apparently Mr. Farley thought so little of those objectives that he did not even think them worth mentioning in these first articles."

URGE CROSS-TOWN BUS LINE IN CITY

which time we received a little help. In regard to a cross-town route, you now have as comprehensive a system as any city."

Would Save Travel

Ivor Davis combated Mr. Friedman's idea that the request "was more or less personal" and said a cross-town link would save 2 1/2 miles of travel and added: "We think you owe it to the city. We look to you and if you don't we look to council and the public utilities commission."

Spokesmen pointed out that 75 per cent of local industry is located on the south side and a more direct route for the workmen is desired.

Mr. Friedman related the time schedule on the South Side and East Washington street lines, stating only 25 minutes were required to make the trip.

Need For Service

Bert Evans pointed out that there is a need for bus service on the proposed cross-town to benefit children going to Ben Franklin school.

John Wajert asserted the bus company was not giving service to a member of the gas rationing board, much gasoline was used by motorists because they were not served by the bus company.

Safety Director D. O. Davies recalled that some time ago a late bus traveled from the South Side via Lutton street to the East Side which worked out well.

Mayor John P. Haven said Mr. Friedman and council had several times conferred upon extensions, pointing out that several already were permanent additions. He said he desired to see the Terrace avenue, Hamilton and Jackson avenue districts served.

Favor Proposal

"I'll assure you that council and myself are in sympathy with your request," Mayor Haven asserted, adding "something must be done."

Councilmen Albert Hoyland and James Gibson also spoke in favor of the proposal.

In reply to a question as to more buses, President Friedman said that "the company has buses on order."

In conclusion Mr. DeCarbo, who said he represented the East Side, asked council to not "sleep on the matter" but push it to a successful conclusion.

off. A door prize was given to a woman and a man of the family, with Miss Susan Burkholder acting as the Goddess of Chance.

Mrs. Jack French won the ladies' prize, and Dandy Iozzi the men's.

In the contest for the hottest necktie present, Harold Sewall, aided by the leather lungs of the composing room, drew the most applause and the prize. Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Burkholder won the prize for the largest family, their four children being present.

In the bean guessing contest, little Bonnie White guessed 2569 out of a possible 2567 and won easily. The prize for the loudest yelling group of four, the composing room men came through. The prize horse shoe pitchers proved to be Harold Sewall and George T. Richards, this team winning the meet. Jack Jones, three-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Jones, sang two songs in the Jolson fashion and did a job of it.

Following the dinner the youngsters of the family were given tickets for the various rides in the park and a number of the older folks danced. It was an enjoyable picnic, this News family affair, and evening Mr. and Mrs. James Tolles Ray and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz were special guests at the picnic.

Are You the Business Head of Your Family?

Today we address that person in every family who looks after business matters. Do you know what a funeral should cost and what you are entitled to receive?

A funeral is an investment in memory... and one that too frequently is based upon little, if any, actual information. Like any investment made in such a way, the results are sometimes disappointing.

The management of the Boyd Home for Funerals prefers that everyone should know about funeral service and its cost. To that end we publish these messages, and invite inquiry.

DAVIS-ROWLAND NUPTIALS QUIET

Simplicity marked the wedding Tuesday evening of Miss Leah McKee Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph P. Davis, 307 Norwood avenue, and William Charles Rowland, son of David J. Rowland and the late Mrs. Rowland, 508 Neshaunock boulevard.

Using the single ring service, Rev. David J. Rowland, Jr., of Westview, Pa., officiated at the ceremony which took place at 6:30 o'clock in Highland U. P. church.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was lovely in a magnolia white street-length dress of crepe, fashioned with cape sleeves and round neck. She wore a fuchsia feathered bonnet hat and carried an arm bouquet of ivory gladioli.

The ceremony took place before an altar tastefully decorated with white gladioli, pine and white tapers in branched candelabra. Mrs. Jay J. Reed, church organist, played "Through the Years," "Berceuse" and the traditional nuptial marches.

A reception for friends and relatives took place later at the bride's home, where a three-tiered wedding cake, flanked with white tapers and gladioli, centered the table. Mrs. Robert Genkinger, the bride's sister, and Miss Barbara Genkinger served as aides.

Following a trip to an undisclosed destination, the young couple will be at home to friends after September 15 at 223 1/2 Shaw street.

The new Mrs. Rowland attended Westminster college, and is employed at the Dollar Savings association. Her husband also attended Westminster college and is now affiliated with the Bell Telephone company. Mr. Rowland, a veteran of three years service during World War II, was in Germany for two years, serving with the rank of second lieutenant.

Food Is Crux Of Problem In Germany

BERLIN, Aug. 27.—Here in the ruins of Hitler's Reich, the United States seems a long way off. It seems very remote to the Americans who are struggling to administer a part of divided Germany.
Back home in America the problem of Germany can be discussed from any one of a number of viewpoints. It is like the fable out of India about the blind men and the elephant. You judge it from the perspective of your own set of ideas, prejudices, emotions.

That is a luxury enjoyed by the stay-at-homes. The Americans, military and civilian, who are actually coping with 40,000,000 Germans are face to face with a grim reality.

Restate Reality

The stay-at-homes ignore the reality or they conveniently forget it. Therefore, it might be well at the outset to restate that reality here.

As a result of the Potsdam Big Four meetings two years ago, Germany was cut up into several parts. Poland was given a chunk of territory in the east, including the Silesian coal mines. The balance was divided into four zones, one each for the Soviet Union, the British, the U. S. and France.

With the deepening split between Russia and the west, these zones have been increasingly walled off as separate little worlds. An important step has just been taken in uniting the economies of the British and the U. S. zones. This will bring definite benefits. But its effect is necessarily limited by the geography of truncated Germany.

Supremely Important Fact

The supremely important fact is this: In the part of Germany that went to Poland and in the Russian zone is the great food-producing area. The United States and Britain in their zones got scenery in Bavaria and industry in the Ruhr and the north—but no food. France got some industry in the Saar.

You can imagine how this would work if you cut the United States into similar pieces. In one zone (Continued on Next Page)

NOW IT IS LATIN AMERICA

The foreign ministers of twenty-one American Republics are holding a meeting in Brazil to draft a hemisphere treaty against military aggression. They have a very good reason for doing this, for the individual Latin American governments are beset with considerable internal threat to peace.

In some cases these sporadic upheavals are tied in with the forthcoming international conference; in others, they are merely domestic.

Bitter Political Campaign

In usually peaceful little Costa Rica, for example, the current general strike, accompanied by bloody clashes, is evidence of a bitter political campaign building up. Former President Dr. Rafael Calderon Guardia is running again. He introduced a broad social security program during his 1940-44 term. He helped labor organize and played the leftist game. Now the old guard is out to beat him.

The Venezuela Government has announced that it has shipped an embryonic revolution also from conservative ranks. President Romulo Betancourt has been under constant attack by the old guard.

Seek To Rush Election

In Nicaragua, Boss Anastasio Somoza is trying to rush through an election so he can get a last-minute invitation to the conference. Somoza, after ten years of dictatorship, helped his candidate win the election last February. But he permitted him to stay in office only twenty-five days before he pitched him out and took over again.

ALL KINDS OF TICKS

Children like to listen to the tick of a watch.

Bed ticks are not considered to be dangerous although many deaths occur on them.

Live ticks are the trouble makers. They are little bugs. There are many different kinds. They usually infect animals.

They are notorious as carriers of disease.

Some parts of the country seem to be worse than others for these diseases.

Some parts of the country seem to be worse than others for these diseases.

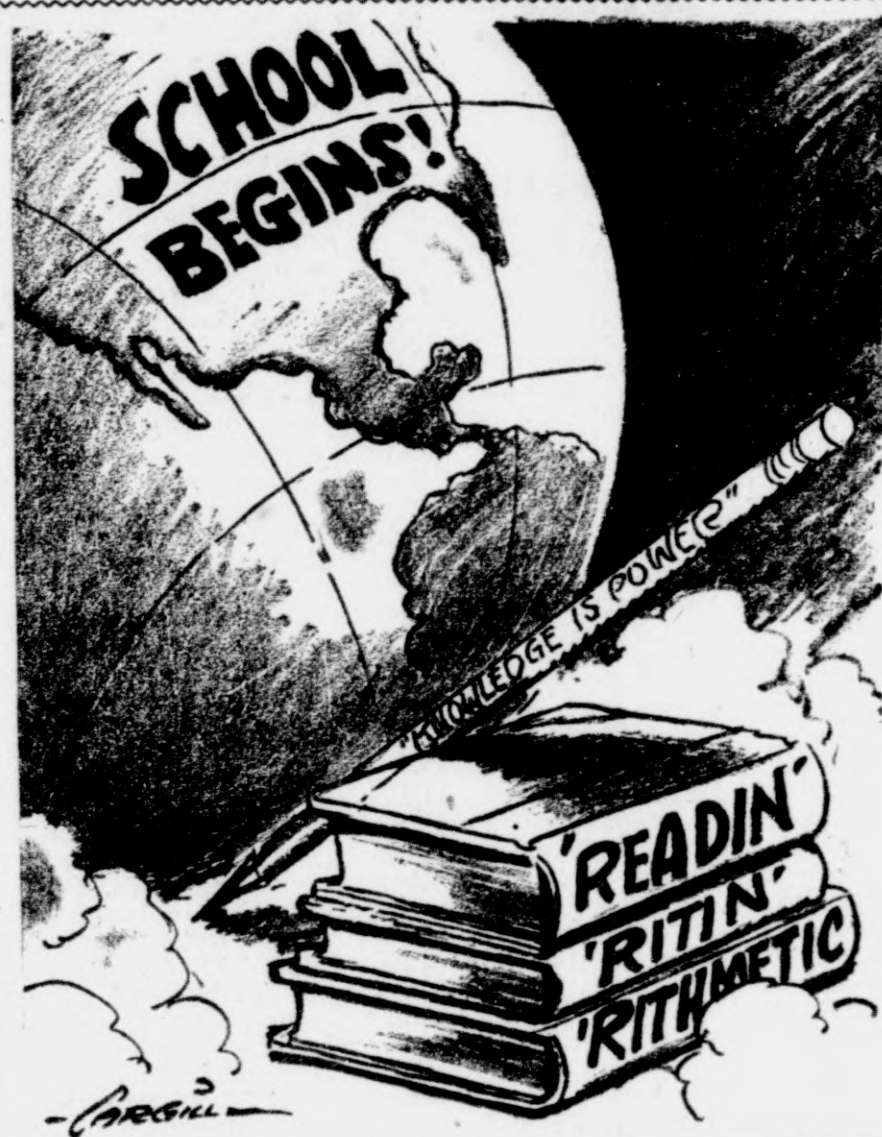

People travel so far and so often that they may pick up some of these ticks somewhere.

Camping or hiking trips are the most risky. These ticks roost on grass or low bushes and brush off on the clothing of passers by.

They fasten themselves to the skin and fill themselves with blood.

Campers or hikers should examine themselves frequently. If a tick is found it should be removed very carefully so as not to crush it in the fingers.

The Parent Problem

CRIME AND THRILLS VIA RADIO

Almost any child in the United States may be able to turn the dial to a mystery-crime story with one or several murders in it, on any day between four and ten p. m. The more gory the program, the more popular it seems to be to children from five to fourteen. Sponsors and broadcasting officials know that these programs pull. The welfare of the children is not their first concern.

If you will talk to an official of a broadcasting company, he may tell you that relatively few parents write to object to these gory programs and that the broadcaster aims to please the public, that moreover the public ought to have what it wants.

Child Psychologist

You may be told, furthermore, that broadcasting companies employ one or more child psychologists to advise them concerning programs which appeal to children. Naturally they select the expert who approves the kind of program they desire to present, usually the one who has been the best publicist. There are psychologists and psychologists of various points of view. A few of them may be wholly conscientious in endorsing the crime-mystery programs, even proclaiming it as wholesome, just as a few psychiatrists may be honest in diagnosing almost any criminal as insane (irresponsible). But as such advice is so contrary to the common sense of most parents, some of us have our suspicions that a few of these "experts" are consciously or unconsciously biased by the handsome fees involved.

I propose to the powers that be to ask such scientific societies as the American Psychological Association to appoint a group of psychologists representing the leading universities and colleges of the nation to make a thorough scientific study of many thousand children over a period of a number of years, with objective measures of the effect (if any) such programs have on these children — on their ideals, their conduct, their quantity and quality of sleep, their emotional experiences and general mental health. The verdict of these representative scientists based not on opinion but on findings from objective studies over ten or more years would, I believe, be accepted by parents with considerable confidence.

Until then the broadcasting companies are assuming tremendous responsibilities for the damage the rank and file of parents believe they are doing to children. Parents who have control of their children will, in the meanwhile, control the dial and protect their children.

One wonders what parents would say — what the broadcasting officials themselves would say — if all the school books meant for pleasurable (Continued on Next Page)

The Bureau of Mines says retail sales of diamonds have hit an all-time high. Apparently many people are trying to collect things they can trade for meat.

As between Tiffany's and T-bone there isn't much difference these days.

A headline today says, "Butchers See $1.50 Steaks" . . . It's nice to know that someone can see them.

And it's nice to know that the economic future of the country is safe . . . People who can afford more diamonds than ever before will not easily be defeated by the high cost of living.

Anyway, we don't do as much eating as we think . . . a scientist says that a man of 70 has actually spent only about five years of his life eating.

Of course, the other 65 he may have been wondering how and when he'd eat.

There will be no hollyhocks and no roses and no ducks and dogs (dogs are forbidden). There will be no Japanese beetles and no chipmunks, no squirrels, no birds. There will be push buttons and roof aerials and all sorts of man-made conveniences—but Nature will turn her back on Stuyvesant Town and 24,000 people will come out of the subway every evening and disappear in those holes and, instead of being individuals as we country folks are, they will be numbers and units and anonymities.

Yet, would you believe it? We had some visitors from a New York apartment this last weekend. They liked our place. They admired our flowers and our river—and they wouldn't change places with us for anything.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

They say that bedlam is a place where reason seems to fail.

And riotous confusion and destruction wild prevail.

The word describes a madhouse, but I know a happier case.

Where from breakfast unto bedtime riot fairly fills the place.

For bedlam noise and shrieking, then it's bedlam I should say.

That is in a summer cottage on a cold and rainy day.

When the rain beats at the windows and the wind in anger roars.

And the mother tells the children they must spend the day indoors.

There's no madhouse that can equal the confusion and the noise.

And the screaming and the laughter of a pack of girls and boys.

And if bedlam be confusion, though it's only done in play.

That's what happens in a cottage on a cold and rainy day.

I wonder who the Briton, was who gave us such a word.

And what was his experience when first the thought occurred?

Did it happen in a madhouse, as the dictionaries state?

If it did, I know a dwelling where the clamor's just as great.

Bedlam fills a summer cottage till in bed they're tucked away.

When the mother tells the children they must stay indoors to play.

Looking At Life

By Erich Brandeis

It was beautiful in the country this morning when I left to go to my New York office.

The sun was shining, there had been rain last night and the earth looked as only country earth can look after it has slaked its thirst.

I had gone through my usual morning rites. Gummy, Spunky, Misty, Laddie, Lassie and Sandy, the neighborhood dogs, had been around for their morning tidbits.

The Muscovite duck from up the river with his two wives and their brood of ducklings, now almost grown up, had been to the kitchen door, done their quacking for their breakfast coffee cake and got it.

I myself had had bacon, a couple of fried eggs, toast and coffee. Then, after my matutinal repast, I had gone out with a coffee can, half filled with kerosene, and picked about 500 Japanese beetles off the hollyhocks, the roses, the zinnias and the grapes.

Then my wife called out: "Hurry, or you'll miss your train."

I caught it by the skin of my teeth and, as I was getting covered with cinders—this little item in my paper attracted my attention:

"Stuyvesant Town, the huge apartment development between Fourteenth and Twentieth streets, from First avenue east to Avenue C, will comprise 35 buildings when it is completed. It will live 24,000 persons in 8,755 apartments."

So, on my arrival in New York I went to Stuyvesant Town. It was gigantic.

Building after building, all of brick and steel and concrete. Twelve stories high and every story just the same as every other story, every apartment the same in general layout as every other apartment.

From where I stood those cubbyholes looked just like the cliff dwellings I had seen out in Arizona some time ago.

Twenty-four thousand people will live in those cubbyholes—with the latest conveniences, to be sure—and very few of the 24,000 will ever get to know one another.

There will be no hollyhocks and no roses and no ducks and dogs (dogs are forbidden). There will be no Japanese beetles and no chipmunks, no squirrels, no birds. There will be push buttons and roof aerials and all sorts of man-made conveniences—but Nature will turn her back on Stuyvesant Town and 24,000 people will come out of the subway every evening and disappear in those holes and, instead of being individuals as we country folks are, they will be numbers and units and anonymities.

Storm Warnings For Marshall

(By Holmes Alexander)

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 27.—No one is sacrosanct in American public life, and General Marshall is no exception. The honeymoon hitherto enjoyed by the distinguished Secretary of State is now threatened with tempestuous weather from the Italian headquarters of Lieut. Gen. J. "Court House" Lee.

Also—it never rains but it pours—there are clouds riding in from the West where Senator Taft will begin a fortnight's speaking tour on September 14 and from Washington, D. C., where inter-Departmental troubles may soon get an airing.

Was Chief Of Staff During War

So strong is the Marshall prestige and so deserved is his reputation for character that no one to my observation has connected him with the pomposities for which Lee is being censured. Yet it is a simple fact that Marshall was Chief of Staff during the wartime period when Lee and others were conducting their goose-stepping comedies in rear area posts. Robert Ruark's expose of Lee good as it was, is no news to anyone who served in the ETO. Lee's reputation was known to hundreds of thousands who never saw him perform. Moreover, old "Court House" had plenty of rank-happy counterparts who lived high and tormented their subordinates on the Army-inspired principle called RHIP—"Ranks has its privileges." This could have been no secret to Marshall because he grew up in the system and helped foster it. Every shavetail out of Officers' Training School was indoctrinated in RHIP—a way of life they learned from the Regulars.

Habits Of Lifetime Not Put Aside

It is unreasonable to suppose that Marshall put aside the military habits of a lifetime when he took off his uniform. He is too fine a man to go in for the crudities of rank-pulling, but he was trained to command—and he still commands. I recently polled some opinions among reporters who have "covered" Marshall both during and since the war. I was told: "He hasn't changed because he can't change. He still goes on the theory that many matters of top importance are strictly his own business."

Maybe the theory is sound but it will never be popular. The Lee episode—the disclosure that this tin god has been operative for years and years and that he typifies a whole class of Army officers—is bound to shake Marshall's prestige. It could very well cut in on the extreme courtesy being shown him both by the press and by anti-administration politicians. Senator Taft has already implied that Republican leaders were not consulted on the plan that bears the Secretary of State's name. Plainly, neither the Congress nor the public were fully informed about our intentions in Greece. Herschel Johnson, American delegate to the Security Council, recently told that body that the U. S. would fight to uphold the Administration's policy in the Balkans. Senator Taft will have at least 14 appearances between California and Wyoming during which to ask a very obvious question: "Would Congress have okayed aid to Greece if the State Department had made this statement earlier?"

Not Pressed Upon Secretary Marshall

This and other questions have not been pressed upon Marshall for two good reasons. Such queries seem to impugn his judgment. He does not welcome them. But it will be strange if the Lee investigation does not blow away some of the cloud of sanctity that surrounds Marshall, leaving him open to inquiry and normal criticism.

The third storm cloud moving in his direction originates within the Administration. Three times since June, Marshall's announcements have contradicted and embarrassed other cabinet officers. Secretary of the Treasury Snyder has twice had to explain how-come he, and the Secretary of State gave differing views on European aid. Secretary of War Royall lately had the same unenviable experience. Is this another evidence of the General's lifetime training? Clearing his opinions with subordinates is not mandatory upon the Chief of Staff. The Treasury and War Departments are both "outranked" by the State Department. But he knows no fury like a cabinet member by-passed. Personally clashes inside the cabinet have already caused several postwar fiascos. It would be a sorry thing to see Marshall involved.

Luckily for the country, however, Marshall did not achieve his high reputation by accident. The immunity from criticism he has so far enjoyed did not happen by request. Sooner or later he will have to defend his judgment against dissenting opinions; for there is no use pretending that Americans are all of one mind about the means of preserving peace. Good soldiers are always at their best under fire. Chances are that the Secretary of State will show up better than ever when opponents start shooting at him.

In View Of The News

By J. C. Oestreicher, INS Foreign Director

A political movement unique in French history gained momentum today under the sponsorship of former Provisional President Gen. Charles DeGaulle.

Chief interest was focused on the extent of DeGaulle's personal popularity through his newly founded organization known as the rally of the French people.

In a week-end announcement, DeGaulle denied that his group is a political party. But the announcement left no doubt that the people's rally must be contended with in the forthcoming October municipal elections.

What DeGaulle intends to do is submit lists of candidates for elective posts which have the backing of the people's rally.

Cope With Difficulties

DeGaulle reiterated that the aim of the rally, which has as a prime objective the defeat of communism, is to cope with mounting difficulties confronting France.

He declared that his organization will place on the election list men and women of diverse political shades provided they commit themselves to work for the welfare of France.

Before and ever since his third resignation from the post of provisional President in January, 1946, DeGaulle has condemned bickering among parties to the detriment of the nation.

His contention has been that the welfare of the nation transcends any party lines.

People's Rally

Announcement that the people's rally will place candidates in the field marks a practical attempt by the wartime French leader to place emphasis of his belief in office.

A persistent advocate of a strong executive at the helm of the Paris government, DeGaulle waged bitter fights against adoption of the constitution of the Fourth Republic on the grounds that the executive was accorded too few powers.

He battled almost continuously against moves by leftists when he headed the regime and finally stepped down with a declaration that as long as party politics took precedence over matters which were for the good of the nation he wanted no part of the responsibility.

His latest drive to place men of his following in office comes significantly at a time when Socialists Premier Paul Ramadier himself has begun a battle, even to the extent of defiance of his own party, to put the country back on its feet economically.

Ramadier's efforts have even won for him the plaudits of Maurice Schumann, president of the Popular Republican Party, which was the party formed by the original DeGaulle followers.

NEW YORK—Viscount Jowitt, lord chancellor of Great Britain: "God is not going to send us manna. We've got to work out our own salvation. I think we'd do it."

WASHINGTON—Rep. Hartley (R-N. J., co-author of new labor law: "All over the country people are getting tired of being kept away from their work by massed picket lines, usually staffed by outsiders. They want something really strong done about it."

The next event on Lawrence Caravan's schedule is a party for the ladies at The Cathedral on September 20, President Walter W. "Fibber" McGee announces. This is for members of the Caravan and the Syria Temple Automobile Club.

Treasury Head Denies Change In British Loan

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Secretary of Treasury John Snyder denied today that the United States had agreed to modify the "Buy American" clause of the Anglo-American loan agreement.

Snyder said emphatically that there had been no "gentleman's agreement" or informal understanding of any kind which would permit the British to violate the non-discrimination clause of the loan pact.

This clause compels the United Kingdom to purchase from the United States, unless it could buy goods of the same quality at bargain rates elsewhere.

Fort Hayes Will Again Be Used

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The War department announced today that Fort Hayes at Columbus, Ohio, has been withdrawn from the list of surplus army posts and will become an active installation again.

Fort Hayes, wartime headquarters of the Fifth Service Command, was declared surplus last March. In withdrawing the post from the surplus list, the War department said it would be used by the National Guard and organized reserve.

HOUSING THREAT ENDED

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—(INS)—A continued threat to housing construction in the Pittsburgh area ended today when 150 lumber yard drivers concluded a 9-day strike by accepting a 17-and-on-half cent hourly wage increase.

The drivers returned to work immediately after results of a morning vote were announced.

There were 654 fewer cases of juvenile delinquency in Philadelphia during the first six months of this year than during the same period of 1946, a decline of 16 per cent is noted.

FRESH BLOOD A MUST FOR FREE ENERGY

Do you feel like you are tied to a drag every time you try to do something? If so, don't let a low blood count hold you down when you make release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell. Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, weakness, lack of resistance to infection and disease.

To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients.

Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.

WASHINGTON CALLING

would be the northeast with its vast industry. In another zone would be the great bread-basket of the Middle West and the South. The Pacific West, with its scenery and its developing industry, would be still another zone. Wall these off so that there can be no trade between them and you get an idea of what Germany today is like.

40,000,000 Germans

In the combined British and American zones are approximately 40,000,000 Germans. To keep them alive on a low diet will cost $625,000,000 this year for supplies brought in chiefly from the U.S.A.

Those supplies have to be brought in because the industrial products of the Ruhr cannot be exchanged for the food of eastern Germany. That is the root trouble of the British and the Americans. It is the argument they use in urging that the level of steel production in the Ruhr be raised from five or six million tons to ten million tons.

It is why American and British administrators argue the necessity for exports from their zones. With some exports, the 40,000,000 Germans might be able to begin to pay for the food that has to be brought in to keep off starvation.

Who Pays The Bill?

The crux of it is right here—who pays the bill? Even though they are a long way from home, our administrators know that the American taxpayer will not go on indefinitely paying half (or more than half) of $625,000,000 a year to keep 40,000,000 Germans alive.

The matter of pay is becoming more and more acute. The British are making it plain that they will not be able to go on much longer meeting their share of the bill. That means the United States would be expected to shoulder the entire $625,000,000 if things continue as they are.

The easy alternative, of course, is to pull out. That would mean sooner or later seeing all of Germany go communist. Hunger would produce complete breakdown—and communism is always the heir to collapse.

This is an oversimplification of the German dilemma. In its complications, it reaches into every phase of European politics. But in essence, those 40,000,000 Germans with no sufficient source of food are the reality that night and day sits on the shoulders of the American administrators. Not all the theories in the world can alter that reality. You cannot, as one European put it, repeat history, and these 40,000,000 human beings are part of the long and tortured history of this tragic continent.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

gles on, with first one side and then the other looking as if it will win. Dictator Higinio Morinigo has been making desperate efforts to end the war before the conference convenes.

Created Stir

The statement by the Cuban Ambassador to Washington, Guillermo Bello, that the Cubans might skip the conference created a stir in Latin America.

Bello says the United States Congress acted in bad faith in adopting a law which would permit sugar purchase reductions from countries in which United States citizens have unpaid claims. At present such claims amount to about five million dollars.

Would Scrap U. N.

World events are proving that while there are a great many people in this world obsessed with the idea that a United Nations set-up will eventually insure peace, there are an equal number of people who are not. Citizens of the world that would like to scrap the whole scheme of the United Nations.

In every nation on the face of the earth, there is a gang determined to rule and, principally, just now to get the United States out of a barrel and rob the daylight out of all of us.

THE PARENT PROBLEM

reading, and the plays and assembly programs at school, were replete with murder-mystery stories of the type to which most children of school age are listening at home.

The child who listens to murder stories on the air hour after hour, day after day, hardly can suppose that human life is very precious or that deliberate murder is very bad after all—they're just the things that are done. Might these programs have something to do with juvenile delinquency? J. Edgar Hoover says they had. What do you think? Or don't you care?

In Boston, March 5, 1970, three persons were killed and several wounded when a sergeant's guard fired into a crowd which had pelted them with snowballs.

The term cobalt was applied to certain blue pigments containing cobalt as far back as the time of the Greeks, but it was not until its discoverer, Brandt, investigated the blue coloring of smalt that the elementary character of the metal was established.

Vacations For Court House Attaches Nearly Over—Lethargy Beginning To Lift

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

Like a low rain cloud that begins to lift, the summer doldrums are beginning to disappear around the court house. The lethargy is lifting and with Labor Day in the bag, the court house should be back to something nearly normal.

August has been the slow month. Many employes have been off on vacation, the heat seemed to kill off much business (save marriage licenses) and there was an air of lassitude around the building.

But it is beginning to lift. The attaches are getting back from vacation, the tall stories are about exhausted and the fall and summer energy will soon make its appearance.

"Loathly Lady" is the heroine of an old ballad, titled, "The Marriage of Sir Gawain." It tells how that knight married a hideous hag whom no one else would look at, who straightway was released from the spells of a malignant enchanter to her normal self as a beautiful young woman. It is another variant of the Beauty and the Beast.

Steel Industry Refutes Assertions

Declares Demand For Production Capacity Increase Are Not Warranted

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Officials of the steel industry refuted assertions by Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) that production capacity should be increased immediately to fill a huge backlog of orders and lower prices.

Said a spokesman for one large producer in Pittsburgh:

"At the present rate of production, the steel industry soon should catch up with the demand. We don't know just how soon. Much new finishing capacity now is being built.

At 95 Per Cent
"In normal times, production seldom is up to 75 per cent of capacity. At present, the industry is operating at more than 95 per cent of capacity. The capacity at present is greater than before the war, and is far in excess of what is necessary to meet demands in normal years."

His statement was similar to that recently made by David F. Austin, vice president in charge of sales for United States Steel Corp., in an address before the National Association of Purchasing Agents: Said Austin:

Capacity In Excess
"It is my studied conclusion that the steel industry's present capacity is not only in excess of normal consumption, but also is in excess of the steel required to supply even the current demand (exclusive of that needed for rehabilitation of inventory)."

"If you are interested in a personal opinion, I forecast that, if production remains at 90 per cent of capacity or better . . . This inventory problem will be solved, and a balance between supply and demand, in most steel products, will be reached by the end of this year."

Another spokesman pointed out that, aside from production lags caused by strikes, orders were being filled, for the most part. Rebuilding of inventories remained the most serious problem.

Steamship Company Abandons Operations

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Tension increased on the San Francisco waterfront today after the Luckenbach Steamship Company announced it has "permanently abandoned" its stevedoring activities and handed discharge papers to 24 employees.

The company's acting Pacific Coast manager, Vincent P. McMurdo, said the firm will call for bids from independent stevedoring companies. He added that "inasmuch as our stevedoring operations do not exist, there is no reason for a picket line."

Loyalty Check In Government Workers' Ranks

First Such Probe To Affect
1,850,000 Persons Working In Federal Jobs

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The federal bureau of investigation and the civil service commission Monday began a "loyalty check" of United States government workers, first full-scale probe of its kind in the nation's history. More than one million, 850 thousand person will be covered by the year-long investigation, for which congress voted an appropriation of 11 million dollars.

Designed specifically to unearth federal employees who have subversive affiliations, associations, or political philosophies—with Communists and Fellow-Travelers the top targets—the inquiry is being carried out by means of a series of forms.

These are "standard forms 84, 85 and 86", just off the presses of the government printing office. Each government agency will fill out Form 84 with information on employees on pay rolls through the period ending Sept. 30; Form 85 is for workers hired after that date, and Form 86 is a fingerprint chart.

Checked Against Data

The latter document will be checked against FBI and civil service data for possible criminal or subversive records. Each form is prepared in quadruplicate. The original is retained by the agency concerned and the others go to the FBI.

Information to be supplied concerning each federal employee includes: First, middle and surname; aliases and nicknames; FBI, passport, army or navy serial number, alien registration or social security number; place and date of birth; job held; marital status; residence and dates, names and addresses of employers for the past ten years.

Space also is furnished for agency comments on loyalty information about the employee which has been furnished by previous bosses, and there also is a section for "report of derogatory information developed."

All agencies having less than 100 employees are required to submit fingerprint records immediately; other departments are permitted to stagger the work by reporting on 15 per cent of their personnel per month.

In the poet Whittier's day, there was a curious custom of telling the bees when a member of the household died. It was believed that if the bees were not told of the death, they would not stay at home, and hence, someone was obliged to tell them of the bereavement. This custom is interpreted in Whittier's poem, "Telling the Bees."

SEEK SAINT'S BODY WITH DETECTOR

WITH A MINE DETECTOR similar to those used by GIs during the war, the Rev. James A. McEnaney seeks the burial place of Saint Rene Goupil, who was killed by Indians in 1642 near Auriesville, N. Y. Father McEnaney believes that the Saint was buried with a metal crucifix and that the mine detector will pick up traces of it. With him is the Rev. Thomas J. Coffey, director of the shrine near Auriesville. (International)

IN THE OPEN

The bluegill sunfish is quite a citizen. Wherever he has moved in, be it mill pond, reservoir or quiet stream, there is never a dull moment for the angler passing that way. The bluegill has a curiosity bump far too big for his own good. He has appointed himself chief inspector of every bit of flotsam which shows up in his particular hunting grounds. The fisherman's lure has hardly broken the surface when every copper-nose in the vicinity comes flashing in for the kill, fanning the water with those greenish fins as though in outraged indignation that such a creature as a lowly anglerworm should dare invade those twilight depths.

I have a standing engagement to meet with the bluegills in a certain pond not too far from my home fences at least once each year. The date and hour have been left to my own convenience since the copper-nose is an accommodating chap, and will entertain visiting anglers anytime, anywhere.

Rigged the Flyrod
 I rigged the flyrod for light work, tying on a No. 6 snook hook, and pinching a small shot on the leader perhaps four inches above the lethal point. The pond was prime for bait fishing, just murky enough to provide deep cover for both the angler and the quarry. I slipped the hand board in a wide gate and worked my way through a thick strand of scrub pine to the water's edge.

A quartet of crows flapped hurriedly up from the timber edging the far bank, cussing me out in an uncertain language and arousing the whole countryside to the fact that Old Nebrose was on the loose again. There was a tremendous splash at the far bank, where either a heavy turtle had crashed, or a muskrat had lost his footing and landed belly-whoppers in his hurry to get out of sight. Another fisherman, a skilled fellow with far more angling know-how than myself, was working the shallows at the upper end of the pond. I saw him before he caught a glimpse of me, and watched him for several moments as he waded majestically through the shore-line muck. He was a great blue heron, with long snaky neck and a sharp bill longer than his head. Every so often that head would flash down into the water, and a hapless tadpole, or minnow, or some other morsel started the journey down that long gullet.

Help Plant Growth
 The many bright warm days of the past few weeks have helped along a lush growth of the water plant known as hornwort, which grew in thick ferny beds in the shallower water close off shore. I hooked on a lively worm, late from my potato rows, and tossed over the weed beds into the deeper water beyond. The waxed line was slowly submerging when the whole rig started off to the right at a smart clip.

I tightened all line and lowered the rod tip, then pulled fast and hard against the direction of the run. A chunky bluegill came up short as the hook went home and one surface flurry, showing part of the worm dangling from his mouth. He was hooked high and gave me a glorious battle, still game to the moment I picked him up and carefully removed the hook.

Has Fatal Fault
 The bluegill has one fatal fault. He has not earned that discretion, the better part of valor, and will strike voraciously at the same lure which has just taken cousin Ed out of circulation. An unscrupulous fisherman who gets into the midst of a school of these blue bream will land them all if he stays there long enough.

I cast again across the weed patches and again there was a solid strike and run. This time the fish headed to my left and it was necessary to strike low and wide to the right. I released this fellow, also, since he was unhurt. He took to the depths with a sort of derisive flirt of that blue-green tail which is his trade mark in cloudy water.

Continuous Action
 An hour or so of this fishing provided almost continuous action, as my old friends rallied round. None of these fish was more than eight inches long and perhaps as broad as my hand. The bluegill is a delicious panfish, but I did not kill any of these fellows, preferring the fun of fast action while angling to the tasty meat of a few little fellows who should have known better.

A catfish marsh at the head of the pond was alive with red-winged blackbirds, now in the August moult preparatory to their trek South later on. It was quite a sight to see all those gaudy birds perched atop the brown cattail "candles" and scolding as I waded by. A green heron took off from this marsh and perched for a moment on some telegraph wires. There were a few fish breaking in the shallows as I headed back through the pines to the car. I hope that at least some of them will still be there for another tussle come another August.

Tobacco Crops In State Suffer In Torrid Spell

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Pennsylvania tobacco crops today suffered from a brief "drought" that benefited cornfields throughout the state.

A week of unrelenting heat and parching sun caused considerable damage to late tobacco crops in the Lancaster county area and prompted growers to hasten cutting of early yields, according to the State Agriculture Department.

The heat was blamed also for a slump in milk production, but was credited with accelerating harvests of other crops.

Damage Caused
 Alternate storms and dry spells during the past few weeks have caused some oats rusting in north-eastern areas, potato rotting in some sections and wheat lodging in many districts, the department said.

A considerable amount of hay reportedly was spoiled by rains, while flash floods in western fields destroyed crops and ruined land fertility.

The latest general crop survey revealed the sweet corn harvest was reaching a peak throughout Pennsylvania, while tomato growers were sending a large volume to canneries.

Orchardists were fighting apple scab and brown rot in peaches and grapes. Parsnip crops in the Philadelphia-Bucks county area were reported in excellent condition and the late spinach crop was labeled fair.

"PLANT FINDER" AID INDUSTRIES GET WAA SITES

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—Expansion minded industrialists are promised a wide selection of government-owned, surplus industrial properties in the "Plant Finder."

The revised edition of the war assets administration booklet lists 723 properties available for purchase or lease plus their size, location, utilities, transportation and general characteristics. Philadelphia WAA Regional Director Levy Anderson said.

Anderson said the 200-page booklet includes descriptions of chemical and light metal, iron steel, and general manufacturing facilities. He said copies of the "Plant Finder" can be had on request.

CHECK HEATING SYSTEMS

ATHENS, Ga.—(INS)—An eight-story student apartment building now under construction on the campus of Georgia School of Technology will give architects and engineers their first opportunity to study the differences between radiant and convective heating systems in a multi-story building. The structure, a part of a four million dollar student housing project at Georgia Tech, is being built in the form of a letter, "H". One wing will be heated by means of wrought iron pipe coils concealed in the concrete floor slabs and the other wing by conventional type convectors.

FIGHT COMMUNISM!

CINCINNATI.—(INS)—Xavier University officials believe the fight against Communism should begin at home—in the American home. That is because they believe the real bulwark against "Red" infiltration in the U. More than one thousand parents, educators, teachers and social workers representing Catholic, Protestant and Jewish faiths are expected.

Despite Puny Budget Sums Marine Divisions Carrying On Tradition Of The Corps

By FRANK NEILL
 (U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CAMP PENDLETON, Oceanside, Calif., Aug. 19.—Come "hell, high-water or atomic bombs," the U. S. marines—as usual—are ready.

The Marine Corps, which traditionally wins its battles the hard way, has primed itself for a next war on the puniest budget ever allocated the fighting leathernecks in modern times.

But if fireworks start popping "anywhere in the world" two rugged divisions—the most highly-trained fighting units in existence—are ready today to roar into action on 24 hours notice.

Camp Pendleton, with its sprawling 125,000 acres, that make it the largest military training camp, spawned 200,000 combat marines in the last war.

warlike chores with a grim seriousness.

With somber deadlines, they are mastering new postwar explosives; new shells that carry fuse-head rocket-launchers, unique mobile 155-mm. guns and other highly-secret stuff so necessary for streamlined warfare.

Yes, the marines are ready, despite peacetime economies that have slashed training operations to the bone.

The new fiscal budget, for example, has chopped gasoline allotments by 40 per cent. The decrease seriously hampers the training of motorized units, tank outfits and amphibious groups.

But Maj. Gen. Graves B. Erskine, big boss at Pendleton, who recently took over as commander of the famed first division, is not letting a few bucks affect Marine Corps tradition or effectiveness.

English schools are reintroducing the use of slates. This recalls to mind what a wonderful instrument they were to torture a nervous teacher.

Warns Alaska Is Poorly Defended

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—(INS)—American Legion officials were warned today that the nation's Alaskan defenses are so flimsy that "an enemy force" could easily invade this continent—meeting little more than token resistance in the northern territory.

The warning was contained in a resolution proposed by the Alaskan delegation to the Legion's 29th annual convention which opens tomorrow, keynoting preparedness.

Would Seek Funds
Due to be placed in committee hands today for convention approval, the resolution would call on Congress to authorize funds for vastly expanded military installations, highways, railroads, airfields and bases throughout the territory. Members of the delegation, headed by Chairman R. H. Stock, Anchorage construction man, made no bones about their belief that current world bickering puts Alaska's proximity to Russia in the number one position as a national defense problem.

"It's nearly 4,000 miles from Seattle to Nome by highway," said W. H. Mickens, 55-year-old delegation secretary from Anchorage, "and the Russians are less than five minutes away by air! Do you wonder that we're worried?"

Suit Is Filed For Damages Against Union

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The W. J. Dillner Transfer company of Pittsburgh today had on file a suit for $465,000 damages against the AFL Teamsters Union and union officers for losses through strikes and work stoppages since April 1944.

The Dillner firm also sought an injunction prohibiting the teamsters union from interfering with company business except as permitted in their contract.

The suits specifically charge the defendants with willfully and unlawfully interrupting and stopping transportation service carried on by the company.
"The firm believes the defendants will continue work stoppages, and that the defendants will attempt to destroy the plaintiff's business by threats and violence."

Six Of Seven Who Fled 'Girls' Town' Now Recaptured

Girls Make Mass Effort To Get Away From Oklahoma Correctional Institution

TECUMSEH, Okla., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Six of seven girls who fled an Oklahoma "Girls' Town" in Tecumseh clad only in panties and brassieres were returned to the correctional institution today.
The seventh, Betty O'Dell, 18, was still sought.
The girls ranged in age from 14 to 18. They made their mass escape yesterday.
Miss O'Dell was described as the ringleader of the break by Sheriff Verduin Myers and highway patrolmen, who recaptured her six companions in a farm home nine miles from Girls' Town.

Claim Ill Treatment
Myers quoted the girls as saying that their escape from a steel-barred "meditation" cell was prompted by ill treatment.

He said they described the cell as 7 feet square and 8 feet high. It was windowless and they only air came through the steel bars of a door. The sheriff said they asserted the cell was too small for all of them to lie down at once.

He quoted Betty Jordan, 14, of Durant, Okla., as declaring:
"All we got to eat was bread and water and not much of that."

Mrs. Merle Fuller, institution superintendent, said the girls had been placed in the cell Sunday after a disturbance in their cottage in which they broke furniture.

All of the girls recaptured had managed to add to their scanty apparel in their hours of freedom. Two were wearing dresses and the others sported blue jeans, overalls, or shorts. Betty Simmons, 16, explained:
"We borrowed things to wear from cabins where we stopped."

Wilmington, Del. School Opening To Be Delayed

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Delaware's infantile paralysis epidemic rose to 84 cases today as Wilmington officials postponed reopening of public and parochial schools until Sept. 15.

The rapidly spreading disease struck 10 more victims yesterday and forced the Wilmington General hospital's Kenny clinic to take over the entire building. Three deaths have been recorded during the current epidemic.

Meanwhile, spraying of the city with DDT by airplane to determine whether flies carry the polio germ was expected to be carried out today if the weather was favorable.

Pupils in the city were slated to return to classes next Tuesday, but the reopening of the schools was deferred at the request of the board of health.

Testing Planes For Cleveland Flying Classic

CLEVELAND, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Planes designed for the National Air Races were being subjected to rigid tests today after the second crash in two days of qualifying runs for the Labor Day weekend flying classic.

The second pilot to escape death narrowly in a crackup was Claude P. Smith, 23-year-old Reidsville, N. C., mechanic. He parachuted to safety after his small racing plane went out of control with a broken wing.

The tiny ship, built for the $25,000 Goodyear Trophy Race Saturday, hit in a vacant lot just east of the Cleveland Municipal Airport.

Smith was hampered in his jump by a canopy over his cockpit, as was James De Santo, of Parkersburg, W. Va. De Santo's experimental Curtiss P-60-E, entered from Atlanta, crashed Monday while he was attempting to qualify for the $40,000 Thompson race on Monday.

Smith said he and his partner, R. S. Hopkins, of Reidsville, operator of the Falcon Airways, had put $2,000 into the Falcon special plane for the light craft race.

Only two planes completed qualifying runs during the first two days of tests flights for the Thompson classic. Jay Deming, 29, of Niagara Falls, N. Y., marked up a time of 386.819 miles an hour in his Bell P-39 Kingcobra.

Army Recruiting Slump Reported

Unusually Heavy Enlistments Needed In Autumn To Reach Goal Set

AUGUST BELOW MONTHLY RECORDS

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—A 25 per cent deficit in the army recruiting program for the year seemed inevitable today unless recruiting this autumn is unusually heavy.

Between Jan. 1 and Aug. 15, 170,899 men enlisted or reenlisted. This falls far short of the army's goal of 30,000 men a month, which called for 225,000 men in seven and one-half months.

Brig. Gen. B. M. Fitch, deputy chief of personnel procurement, said that there usually was a big intake of men in the fall. He asserted that many high school graduates wanted their regular summer vacation before joining the service at the time they usually went back to school.

September Good Month
In addition, Fitch asserted, high wages paid harvest hands would keep many potential soldiers in the fields until later in the year. He pointed to the fact that last year enlistments in September far outnumbered those in August.

Declining enlistments, coupled with 467,000 discharges in the first six months of the year, reduced the army's total strength to 990,000, as of July 1. The army is authorized 1,067,006 officers and men, and would like to make that figure 1,070,000.

The authorized total calls for 924,268 enlisted men and 132,738 officers.

In the fiscal year ending last July 1, the monthly total of enlistments averaged almost 31,000, but this average figure was swelled by heavy enlistments last fall when the draft law was still in effect.

High Average Held
The high average held through January, when 35,478 joined the army, and then tapered down to a low of 14,907 in May. In June and July, two traditionally good recruiting months, recruiting figures were 24,630 and 27,063 respectively.

But in the first two weeks of August the average slipped to 10,868, which would make a total of around 22,000 if enlistments held throughout the month.

Since July 1 the personnel procurement division has kept a breakdown that shows 65.03 per cent of the men recruited were without prior service mostly youths between 17 and 22 years of age.

Left Family For Baby Sitter

The dust-bowl lothario who left his wife and 10 children for a baby sitter is en route home after being arrested by authorities at Phoenix, Ariz., where he is shown with the girl, Betty Jo Roberts, 16. He is Joseph Bray, 37, of Bell Gardens, Cal. The Brays have been on relief for seven years.

Asia Undergoing Great Revolution

WILMINGTON, Del., Aug. 27.—(INS)—The greatest revolution in history is taking place in Asia at the present time.

A revolution of democratic principles is piercing that continent, U. S. Senator Elbert Thomas (D) Utah, pointed out in an interview radio broadcast.

Thomas said the greatest example of democracy is "the great new constitution which the Japanese are now attempting to live under."

In the same broadcast Thomas suggested Americans "appreciate Russian problems a bit, instead of thinking about the fact she is always out of harmony." He cautioned Americans to be patient with the Soviet.

REPORT HUNGARY LACKING IN FOOD

PHILADELPHIA.—(INS)—The people of Hungary are hungry.

This report was given by Rebekah Taft who has just returned from that country as a representative of the Friends Service Committee. She reports that as a result of a two-year drought, an already critical food shortage has been aggravated.

Miss Taft told of workers in Budapest who receive a weekly wage of 45 cents. And with prices comparable to those in the U. S. this does not buy much food, she said.

The Quaker team in Hungary, of which Miss Taft was a member, distributes clothing and food to the needy.

The question whether a platypus lays eggs was debated for 80 years. It does.

Poet Rates His Verse At Bottom

WILMINGTON, Del.—(INS)—You may have your favorite poet, but J. Harvey Burgess of Harrington is his own favorite—he is self-styled "perpetrator of the world's poorest poetry."

Not being particularly retiring, Burgess admits his poetry is beyond comparison. At the bottom of the scale, the "Demon of the Double Negative" alias the "Tycoon of Tragic Typography" proclaims his literary position anew as he tours the country reciting his poor poetry to audiences who undoubtedly like it very much.

For 29 years Burgess was publisher and editor of the Harrington Journal with after dinner speaking as a hobby. He has now turned over his editorial duties to his sons to devote full time to a career of talking about his poetry.

Spur Efforts To Revise Program In State Schools

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The state department of public instruction today spurred efforts to put in full swing during the forthcoming school year the "most comprehensive curriculum revision program ever undertaken by any state".

Paul L. Cressman, director of the bureau of instruction, reported that the state would spend $100,000 during the 1947-48 biennium to bring public school studies "up to date".

To Speed Revision
More than 600 teacher groups were slated to speed the revision program when the commonwealth's 1,500,000 school children begin to troop back to classrooms September 2, he said.

Pointing out that the state's school curriculum had not been revised for almost a quarter of a century, Cressman asserted that the revision would give Pennsylvania a modern, outstanding educational program.

"The revision will not be written in the department, but with the help of the commonwealth's teachers," he said. "Everything that is finally included in the new curriculum will have been tried out and proved workable in some school system."

Experimental Revisions
Many of the state's public schools have already undertaken experimental study revisions in classrooms, he explained.

"Every teacher, teachers' organization and interest-group wanting to share in the program will have a chance to contribute," Cressman asserted. "The value of the curriculum revision will come chiefly to teachers who share in the development of the program."

He said teachers, parent-teacher associations, colleges, industrial, commercial, agricultural and other groups will make a detailed analysis of present-day educational needs from intensive study of current subject material.

"To match the modern tempo we must have a functional educational program and an adequate guidance program," he declared. "Students who have a career motive do better work in college and in life than those with no motive."

Cressman said the instruction department, with the aid of teacher and interest groups, intends to cover "all subjects in the curriculum in all grades". He added that the department will meet regularly with textbook publishers, and union and veteran groups to obtain their ideas on the revision program.

Dear Mary:
When you go over the house plans with Harry, be sure he has an adequate wiring plan. Modern electrical appliances make housemaking tasks a breeze but they won't operate at peak efficiency unless your wiring can handle the load. It's wise to have an electrical contractor make the plans. He knows what you need for easy, modern living.
Sincerely,
Reddy Kilbowatt

P.S. Keep in mind that part of the resale value of the house may be based on the wiring plan.

DESTROY BORERS IN CORN STALKS

Losses from corn borers, which are heavy annually in Lawrence County and throughout the state, can be curbed if sweet corn stalks in the garden and in the field are disposed of immediately after harvest.

Borers prefer sweet corn of all corn varieties, and since sweet corn usually is planted earlier than field corn it attains a more desirable stage of growth at the time the moths are laying eggs.

Disposing of the stalks immediately after harvest will prevent reinfestation of later corn by the second generation of borers. In single generation areas this will reduce borers in next year's corn.

Stalks can be fed to the livestock, ensiled or shredded, plowed under to a depth of at least six inches, and if the extermination program is conducted on a community-wide basis the results will be much more effective.

Army Wants Fifty More Horse Doctors

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—(INS)—The highly mechanized United States army, which long ago replaced oat burning animals with gasoline burning motor vehicles, appealed today for 50 more horse doctors.

Col. James A. McCallam disclosed that the army still has 423 veterinary officers, of whom 179 are regular army men. And he added: "We could use 40 or 50 more."

McCallam is chief of the veterinary corps, a division of the surgeon general's department. Under him are all the doctors of veterinary medicine in the army.

The role of the veterinary office in the army has changed greatly since the armed forces were horse drawn or carried. Today the erstwhile horse and mule doctors largely are food inspectors, and their work is highly necessary in keeping all food products of animal origin up to army standards.

NEW SCHOOL ERA

HARRISBURG, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Superintendent of Public Instruction Francis B. Haas believed today that Pennsylvania's educational system was entering a "new era of progress" under a multi-million dollar program enacted by the General Assembly this year.

"The state's 1,500,000 school children in the commonwealth's 10,500 free public schools are now a part of an advanced school system for which current operating expenses during the 1947-49 biennium will be $459,000,000," he pointed out.

"Bacon's Rebellion" was an uprising of the colonists in Virginia, particularly of the lower classes, under the leadership of Nathaniel Bacon, against the colonial authorities, represented by Gov. William Berkeley, in 1676. The uprising was a protest against unfair taxation, hampering of commerce and lack of protection against Indian raids. Through Bacon some ills were reformed under what were known as "Bacon's Laws," and the Indians were defeated.

Report Of MacArthur's
Headquarters

By HOWARD HANDLEMAN

TOKYO, Aug. 27.—General MacArthur's headquarters declared today that Japan will export three times as much this year as in 1946, although present production is only one-third of the limit set by the Far Eastern Commission.

The report was the third in a series issued by the various sections of MacArthur's headquarters reviewing the first two years of Allied occupation in Japan. Dealt with economic progress in communications, transportation, civil property restoration, economics and science, natural resources and reparations. It revealed that the Japanese textile industries had increased from five to fifteen fold since the occupation.

However, headquarters warned that the future trend of industry was dependent almost entirely upon the coal output.

The report said that reparations work during the second year of occupation dealt almost entirely with inventories. It added that although availability of metal working and synthetic rubber plants was recently announced, "no allocations were made, by the end of the second year."

Dealing with the economics picture, the report said the job of supreme headquarters had been "directed toward eradicating the old imperialistic, non-democratic economic pattern of life."

This was replaced, according to the report, "with a new framework which should lead Japan into democracy."

Dr. Jekyll And
Mr. Hyde Case

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Another Dr. Jekyll-Mr. Hyde personality was uncovered in Jacksonville Tuesday.

Edward O'Neal Blair, 18-year-old, was a patient in the tuberculosis ward at Duval county hospital in Jacksonville, and received treatment during the day.

Monday detectives found a .38-caliber revolver under his pillow. It was identified as one of nine weapons stolen from a Jacksonville gunsmith.

Blair was held on charges of breaking and entering.

New Campaign For Tax Cut Is To Be Launched

ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 27.—(INS)—Rep. Knutson (R) Minn., Tuesday promised a new and vigorous Republican campaign for a tax reduction in the second session of the 80th Congress.

The Minnesota legislator said that GOP efforts to bring a tax cut could only be stopped by the "blind obstinacy" of President Truman.

Two tax bills, both sponsored by Knutson's House Ways and Means Committee, were passed by Congress but were vetoed by the president.

Rep. Knutson said that the president's mid-year budget revision figures, issued a few days ago, prove that the Republican party was right in demanding income tax reductions. Knutson declared:

Just Plain Silly

"President Truman's contention that tax reduction would be inflationary is just plain silly. Taxes are now an important part of the cost of everything we buy. A reduction in taxes would therefore result in a reduction of prices.

"I stand by my previous statement that no tax bill would be acceptable to President Truman unless it were basically political. The Republicans propose to carry on the battle for tax reduction in the second session of the 80th Congress.

"If we again fail because of Mr. Truman's blind obstinacy, the issue will be carried back to the people in November, 1948."

WILL YOU COME BACK?

Think—as you start on your Labor Day holiday: Is this the last time you will see your home?

Is it? Experts predict 300 people will lose their lives in traffic accidents in the United States on Labor Day weekend.

The experts were correct this past July 4th—275 people who started out for a happy holiday never came home alive. Additional thousands were injured. Violence was as far from their minds as it is from yours—now.

We can lick this needless and sudden death—if you realize that a few minutes gained by speeding isn't worth the chance of losing your life. If you obey the rules of the road—and don't pass on hills or around curves. If you pass up that "extra" drink in favor of a clear head and steady hands. If you know that extra heavy traffic calls for extra driving caution on your part. IF YOU DETERMINE TO DRIVE CAREFULLY... COURTEOUSLY... COMPLETELY ALERT.

Will you help us prove the experts wrong? They won't mind. In fact, this is written with the hope that it will help to save lives—maybe your life. We want you to come back.

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 27.—Hollywood has a knack of making you see things as they are, as witness the case of the twin bathtub.

There are a lot of outdoor scenes in RKO's "Roughshod," mostly made in the area around California's rugged Sonora.

One of them showed the stars, Gloria Grahame and Robert Sterling, emerging over the edge of a river bank, dripping with water. There was an additional scene in this sequence to be made at the studio. It was a close-up showing them climbing up the river bank.

The lack of a river didn't bother the smart boys at the studio. At the bottom of the imitation bank, they placed two bathtubs. The stars were plenty wet when they came up.

Pirates Unleash Powerful Hitting Attack In Defeating Dodgers

Bankhead Chased To Showers When Pirates Explode

Rookie Negro, First To Hurl Big League Ball, Gets Baptism, Score 16-3

By LOU GARAVENTE
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Branch Rickey, eloquent Brooklyn Dodger president and wise appraiser of diamond talent, had fostered another epoch in baseball history today. But the shrewd Mahatma was slightly baffled.

A few days ago, Rickey, in a desperate effort to bolster a tattered Dodger pitching staff, signed Dan Bankhead, a negro pitcher, to a Brooklyn contract. Yesterday, Bankhead relieved in the Pirates-Dodger game to become the first negro pitcher in the annals of major league baseball.

Upon Bankhead's accomplishments rests Rickey's cause for wonder. The rangy negro, reputed to have the "fastest fast ball in organized baseball" had a fair 11 and 5 record with the Memphis Red Sox of the Negro American league. Bankhead also doubled as an outfielder. He sported a batting average of .359.

But after a brief, base-hit spattered three and one-third innings, Bankhead had surrendered eight runs and ten hits and hit a home run in his only time at bat. Thus Bankhead was responsible for half of the Pirates' hits and runs in the 16 to 3 carnage. Yet, had driven in two-thirds of the Dodger total with a two-run home run.

Despite the one-sided loss, the Dodgers maintained their six-game edge in the National league. Big Bill Voiselle hurled a gaudy three-hitter against the Cardinals and Bob Elliott whacked four hits to contrive a 5 to 1 success for the Boston Braves.

Mize Hits Two
Big John Mize moved four games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-setting pace by crashing two home runs (41 and 42) among four hits and five runs batted in to lead the Giants to a 7 to 6 conquest over the Chicago Cubs.

Radiator Golfers End League Season At Sylvan Heights

Core Department Wins Championship And Sets Company Record Doing It

The National Radiator company golf league has played its last match of the season at the Sylvan Heights golf course with the Core Department coming through victorious and winning the 1947 intraplant championship. The Core Department under the fighting leadership of Stanley Dougalewicz stopped the Foundry team captained by Fred Lombardo by a score of 3 1/2 to 1 1/2.

The only member of the Foundry team able to score was Lombardo, who halved his match with Stan Dougalewicz. The low man for the afternoon was Fred Lombardo with a 38 card, playing his usual good brand of golf.

Set New Record
The Core Department set a new record in the company's intra-plant league by taking both halves thereby eliminating a play-off, which is the first time this has occurred in the National Radiator company intra-plant golf league. The championship team is composed of Captain Stan Dougalewicz, Whitman, Gaydos, Sitt and Smarell. All the players were very faithful and very few times were any players of the Core Department team absent, causing points to be forfeited.

The final standing of the league for the season was Core Dept. 22, Inspection Dept. 16 1/2, Foundry Dept. 15, Warehouse 14 1/2. The league is now looking forward to a banquet for which plans are now being formulated and will take place in the latter part of September.

Homestead Grays Defeat Jay-Bees By 3 To 2 Score

"Razor" Gillette Hurls Fine Game For Bronze, But Errors Hurt, Oakland Thursday

New Castle baseball fans, some 1,500 of them, who braved the threatening weather again last night and wended their way to Flaherty field, were rewarded with an exciting game, as the Homestead Grays, famous National Professional Negro League champs, edged the Johnson Bronze Jay-Bees 3 to 2. The Grays started their ace, Johnny Wright, one of the best colored pitchers in the country, last night and for four innings the big boy breezed them in, fanning six and not issuing any passes, giving up three hits. The Jay-Bees brought in Douglas "Razor" Gillette from Oakland and the diminutive "Doug" stood out there on the hill and fired away with a blazing fast ball and change of pace, giving the Grays but seven hits, fanning seven men and issuing but one free ticket to first.

Errors Hurt Locals
But for two untimely errors and the slippery grass on the infield, Gillette might have defeated the Grays. Jimmy Tropea heaved one over first base, allowing two Grays to score in the fifth inning. Outside of the fifth the Grays could not get a man home as the Dilettantes played tight ball outside of the fifth frame.

The Jay-Bees made both of their runs in the last of the eighth inning. Alce first up was safe on an error by Riley at second, Magistak singled and Alce raced to third to score on a fielder's choice by Marshall. Kozela doubled and Marshall took third, scoring a few seconds later when Jimmy Tropea hit a long fly to right field. With Kozela on third in the big eighth Orlando fanned to end the inning.

Oakmont Here Thursday
It was announced by Ralph Gardner that the Oakmont team will be Thursday evening instead of tonight as originally planned owing to the Brothers-Bell fight at the Arena.

Providing the city league postponed games are played, the play-offs will start at Flaherty field at 6 o'clock Friday night, it was announced today, as the Johnson Bronze Employees Association and the city league managers have reached an agreement on the using of the beautiful new ball park.

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Charley (Young) Zivic, youthful Pittsburgh middleweight, today held a decisive victory over the veteran Freddie Archer of Newark, N. J., and for the most part he used but one weapon to gain it—a terrific left hook.

THE STATE GAME COMMISSION today announced hunting seasons in Pennsylvania fixed by the federal government for waterfowl and migratory game birds.

Persons over 16 years of age were reminded they must possess federal hunting stamps to participate in the sport.

Two City Loop Games Tonight

City League Will Attempt To Start Playoffs Friday At Flaherty Field

Providing the postponed games are cleared up tonight and Thursday the city baseball league play-offs will start at Flaherty field at 6 o'clock Friday evening. The games will be played Friday, the second game at 8:30 o'clock.

Tonight in an effort to get the season card completed the Deweys will battle the Universals at Washington field and the Dukes will take on the Lawrence Indies at the Cascade street field, both heated contests, with both the Dukes and Deweys battling for playoff berths.

Interest Intense
Thursday evening at Cascade street field the Deweys and Dukes will tangle in a postponed game ordered played by the league head. On this game may hinge the fate of the Dukes, Deweys and Sons of Italy in the playoffs.

Both of the games tonight are to be started by the umpires at 5:45 o'clock sharp. Intense interest in the games will draw banner crowds to both fields, it was indicated.

Ellwood Battles Bessemer Friday

First Game Of Lawrence County Championship Series At Bessemer Field At 4:30 EST.

The serenity of the well little community of Bessemer is due for an awakening Friday evening at 4:30 EST, when just about all of Bessemer's baseball fans will gather at the high school field to watch Jim Martin's County league title contenders battle the Ellwood City Moose.

This is the first game of a five-game championship series, the second game will be played Sunday at Ellwood City, the third at Bessemer next Wednesday.

Stanley vs. Beatrice
"I'll pitch the veteran 'Steamer' Stanley Friday," Jim Martin commented. If Stanley is right the portly hurler will be hard to beat.

Manager Dick Freidhoff of Ellwood City will more than likely start Tom Beatrice, his ace, to get the edge in the series if possible. The first game being a crucial one in any series.

The county fans are assured of seeing a "red-hot" series. Banner crowds at all series games are expected as the interest is intense. Both teams enter the finals with confidence.

News All-Stars Defeat 'Bums'
The New Castle News All-Stars were a little too good for the New Castle News Old Timers, dubbed the "Bums", at The News picnic softball game last evening at Cascade Park, the All-Stars edging the aging veterans 4 to 3 with Homer Miles Sr. the winning hurler and French the loser, in a four-inning contest. It was a good game, if one cares to parry with the truth, and the liniment bottle was much in evidence today at The News as the old timers creaked around the joints.

Panamanian Wins Over Harold Dade

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 27.—(INS)—Ex-Bantamweight Champion Harold Dade had no excuses today for his ten-round split decision loss to the Featherweight Champion of Panama, Simon Vergara, in Los Angeles.

Dade entered the ring a 1-5 favorite. The hard-hitting Vergara floored Dade twice last night in the fifth round with short, cruel left hooks that had Dade bewildered and slightly groggy.

Vergara followed up in the sixth by flooring Dade again in a neutral corner. Dade weighed 122 1/2. Vergara, 127.

Rex, Local Horse, Scores Seven Times, All In Single Day

Western Type Horse Owned By Harry Bradley Performs In Two Different Shows

Rex, the little black western type horse, owned by Harry Bradley of Wilmington avenue, performed the sensational feat of appearing in two different horse shows in one day, and ridden by five different riders, scored seven times.

Although tired, and over-ridden, Rex was ridden by Patty Jo Leyde, who suffered an injured ankle in a minor spill, tried hard to give the crowd at the Kiwanis horse show their money's worth Saturday evening, finishing in second place in the musical chair, or box race.

This was Rex's second show, he having appeared earlier in the day at the show conducted at the Mercer Fair. Here he won first in the western pair class, ridden by Mrs. Mitchell Degation, pairing with Mrs. Degation and her riding horse, Champ. Next he won the western class, ridden by his owner, Harry Bradley. He then took second in the musical chair, ridden by Glenn Klinefelter, third in the ladies egg race, ridden by Mrs. Parker of Sharon, which event was won by Mrs. Degation. Rex appeared next in the pony pair class with Glenn Klinefelter up. Rex stands but 38 inches in height and his rider, Glenn Klinefelter, is 15 years old. He finished in a blaze of glory, taking first in the package race, ridden by Glenn Klinefelter.

Rex had the highest score of any horse in the show at Mercer. He was then rushed back to Wampum in time for Miss Leyde's first event of the evening, juvenile riders, 13 to 19 years of age.

Mrs. Degation's score at Mercer was first, second and third in the western classes.

Has Most Experience
Bell stood up under the ravaging punches of Billy Pozza and lost only by a short margin. While he figures Elkins punches harder than Pozza, he realizes that Brothers is lacking in experience and knows only one way to fight, and that is to win, and slug, until someone drops.

If Brothers should blow up during his assault, he would prove prey for the cagey Ike, who is a brother of Tommy, Shelton and Bobby Bell, members of the fighting Bell family. At any rate, indications point to a good battle with a jammed Arena watching the affair.

There will be seven other bouts on the docket, five of which are: Tojo Wade, Johnstown, vs. Pete Misto, Youngstown, 145. Lew Kouzerek, Johnstown, vs. Willie Wright, Youngstown, 135. Mickey Suproskey, Johnstown, vs. Don DeMarens, Youngstown, 138. Eddie March, Johnstown, vs. Frankie Lentine, Youngstown, 122. Jackie Evans, New Castle, vs. Bobby Mays, Youngstown, 135.

The tistic promotion is being staged by the Jefferson A. C. and has the approval of the A. A. U. and the State Athletic commission.

Washington State is the only newcomer on the 1947 Penn State football schedule.

FAIR OR FOUL

by
LAWTON CARVER
International News Service

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Bert Bell has put the National Professional Football league on the toughest spot it has occupied since the day when a handful of bookmaker and other citizens got together and started the circuit.

Bell, commissioner of the National league, has taken it upon himself to turn down flatly a proposal for a world championship playoff for charity with the All-America Conference.

Reading between all the lines, this thing shapes up about as follows:

Is Going Along
Bell, a figurehead who surprisingly was inducted into office at a meeting that suddenly exploded in the face of Elmer Layden, is going along with the club-owners in keeping with the demands of his job.

How he got that job has never been told in its entirety. Layden was the commissioner, went into a meeting to preside and was told, in effect, to pack up and get out. Bell, then co-owner of a National league club, was the new boss.

Thus Bell is going along with his job.

Meantime, the National league has refused steadfastly to recognize the All-America Conference even to the point to accept a challenge for a game that would net a worthy charity as much as $200,000.

Would Be Cheap
From the All-America's standpoint, they seek recognition. To give away those receipts for one year would be a cheap price to pay for an annual world championship playoff between the two leagues.

However, aside from the All-America's maneuvering, there is no doubt by this time that the National league is a worn out circuit made up of older and, in many cases, worthless players.

Many of them have only a name by this time. The Collegians all but ran the Chicago Bears out of the park last week. The Bears are the National league champions.

Commissioner Jonas Ingram of the All-America Conference is not far wrong in his estimate that his league has at least four clubs better than anything in the National. The All-America is up and coming at a time when the National is riding along on past glories under the domination of Tim Mara in New York, George Halas in Chicago, and George Preston Marshall in Washington.

All three have worn out ball clubs. The All-America has some weak spots in its setup—some cities which may falter and fail. However, if the circuit can hang together somehow and continue its progressive way of operating.

most homers ever hit by a Giant player, and one of his own individual record of 43 four baggers set in 1943.

Browns Edge Yanks
In the American league, the league-leading New York Yankees lost their second successive 4 to 3 game, this time to the tail-end St. Louis Browns.

The Red Sox and the Detroit Tigers smashed out 14 hits for a 12 to 1 triumph in the first behind the five-hit chugging of 20-year-old rookie Art Houtteman.

The Red Sox regained second place by a half game by whipping the Tigers 9 to 1. Tex Hughson checked the Tigers with four hits.

Macks Scalp Indians
Phil Marchildon outlasted three Cleveland pitchers to hang up his 16th win by pitching the Athletics to a 12-inning 2 to 1 victory over the Indians.

The Washington Senators jumped to a three-run lead in the first inning and added another along the way to eke out a 4 to 3 success against the Chicago White Sox.
